DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed September, 2010 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Instead of canceling claim 17, applicant chose to cancel claim 7.

Claim 17 has not been amended to positively claim the liquid as previously suggested in the prior Office Action. Replacing the word "which" with "that" does not result in the liquid being positively claimed. The claim should be amended as follows: "a reaction vessel ~~for~~ containing a liquid that includes . . . "

Therefore, the previous 112 rejection of claim 17 is hereby maintained.

It should be noted that claim 17 only covers the embodiment of Figure 8. As confirmed by applicant the plurality of lateral piezoelectric elements 35 are considered the first means for generating.

Priority

The remaining pending claims are considered to have a valid claim for priority based upon JP 2000-54955, but do not receive credit for the date of JP 2000-50034. However, as previously stated the JP application has a different inventors from that of the instant application. MPEP 201.15 states

The foreign application may have been filed by and in the name of the assignee or legal representative or agent of the inventor, as applicant. In such cases, if the certified copy of the foreign application corresponds with the one identified in the oath or declaration as required by 37 CFR 1.63 and no discrepancies appear, it may be assumed that the inventors are entitled to the claim for priority. If there is disagreement as to inventors on the certified copy, the priority date should be refused until the inconsistency or disagreement is resolved.

In the instant case, there is a disagreement as to the inventors of the instant invention of claim 17 and that of JP 2000-50034. As such, the priority date is refused.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. The liquid including a specimen and reagent is critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976). As presently drafted the liquid is not positively claimed as being required as being present in the container. However, the entire operation of the analyzer depends on the liquid being present and the properties thereof. As such, the claim should read as "a reaction vessel for containing a liquid that includes said specimen..." Such, requirement was previously discussed and agreed upon as indicated by the record (see Interview Summary 9/30/09 and Applicant's response/amendment – 10/9/09).

Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claim 1 is rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,737,021. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claim 1 of the patent fully encompasses the scope of claim 1 of the instant application.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 8-10, 12-15, and 17 would be allowable if is rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112 and the double patenting rejection, set forth in this Office action.
7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Akira is not prior art based upon the foreign application JP 2000-54955.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
